What Are Cookies

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your device when you visit a website. They help websites function properly, remember user preferences, and improve overall experience.

Cookies may also be used to collect information about how you interact with the Platform.

Non-essential cookies are placed only after obtaining user consent via a cookie banner. Users may withdraw consent at any time.

How We Use Cookies

Armadillo.live uses cookies to:

- Ensure the Platform works correctly
- Remember your preferences and settings
- Understand how users interact with the Platform
- Improve performance and user experience
- Support marketing and partner-related tracking

Cookies help us deliver a smoother and more personalized experience.

Types of Cookies We Use

Essential Cookies

These cookies are necessary for the Platform to function properly. Without them, certain features may not be available.

Performance and Analytics Cookies

These cookies help us understand how users interact with the Platform (such as pages visited and usage patterns) so we can improve performance.

Functional Cookies

These cookies remember your preferences, such as language or session settings, to enhance your experience.

Marketing and Tracking Cookies

These cookies are used to support marketing activities and to track interactions with partner services, including affiliate relationships.

Third-Party Cookies

Some cookies may be set by third-party services integrated into the Platform.

These may include:

- Analytics providers
- Infrastructure and hosting providers
- Partner services and affiliates

These third parties may use cookies in accordance with their own privacy and cookie policies. Armadillo.live does not control how third parties use cookies.

We may use analytics tools such as Google Analytics and marketing tools such as Meta Pixel.
